

MAPFRE's upcoming XXVII International Global Risks Seminar

The largest gathering of Large Risk professionals will be held online on June 9 and 10.

Despite the current health situation, MAPFRE Global Risks did not want to miss the chance to hold its famous International Seminar. That's why the 27th Seminar will be held online this year, on June 9 and 10.

With the topic "Committed to Major Risks in a new environment," directors and risk managers from multinationals, insurance companies, reinsurers, brokers and collaborators in over 39 countries will be able to follow the event live and enjoy the variety of round tables and talks that will take place during the two sessions included in the agenda.

The International Global Risks Seminar is one of the most important gatherings in the Large Risks sector. The event is organized by MAPFRE's Large Risks Unit every two years and is attended by specialists from the world over, who come together to debate current challenges and future trends.
